Realtor, Award Winning
Coach, Best Selling Author
& Podcast Host

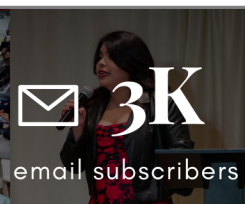

Monica is a serial entrepreneur turned Realtor and business investor who is committed to building long term wealth and teaching others how to do it too. She has shared the stage with Kevin Harrington of ABC's Shark Tank and has been featured on multiple media outlets including Real Estate Game Changers Radio, Realtor.com, Behind The Hustle and Clarity FM.

When Monica first decided to pursue entrepreneurship, she had her fair share of struggle— at one point living out of a suit case in the back room of her first office, on a blow-up air mattress that would deflate halfway through each night, before she finally achieved success.

After consulting for and building several successful businesses in various niches (real estate, fashion, consumer products, etc.), one which hit 7 figures in year one, she has first-hand knowledge of what it takes to build a business with a long term wealth strategy in mind. She is passionate about sharing this knowledge to help others build multi-generational wealth and achieve long term success.

Monica also writes & speaks on the intersections of culture, wealth-building and real estate and is a former contributor to The Huffington Post, invited by Arianna Huffington herself, and her newsletter, Wealth Revolution. As a strong believer that "sometimes saving money and planting roots is an act of revolution", Monica created the Wealth Revolution— a community designed to empower people to create multi-generational wealth by investing in themselves and in real estate.

WORKSHOP FEEDBACK

"This was an amazing! I really enjoyed the portion on how to connect with people. I find myself now observing the way others behave and mimicking them in order to attempt to connect with them on a deeper level."

The workshop was very eye opening. It shed light on the power of a "business mentality". I especially, enjoyed the affirmation portion of the workshop!
